CALL FOR PAPER: THE 3RD INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON APPLIED SCIENCE AND HEALTH

THE 3RD INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON APPLIED SCIENCE AND HEALTH

02 August 2018, Faculty of Graduate Studies, Mahidol University, Thailand.

CALL FOR PAPER

Due date of Full Paper Submission: 17 June 2018

Following the success of the first and second conference, on behalf of team in Yayasan Aliansi Cendekiawan Indonesia Thailand, internationally known as Indonesian Scholars' Alliance \(INSCHOOL\), we cordially invite your participation to share expertise, experiences and views at the 3rd International Conference on Applied Science and Health (ICASH), on Faculty of Graduate Studies, Mahidol University, 02 August 2018.

Addressing global health challenges: policy, research and practices as the themes, the 3rd ICASH raises the efforts to develop health and well-being for better society such as factors of illness, epidemiology, health promotion, health policy, nutrition, environmental health and safety, nursing and midwifery, and other sciences related to health development.

The 3rd International Conference on Applied Health and Science (ICASH) wishes to serve as a medium to share knowledge and experience among scholars, health practitioners and scientist in order to gain better understanding of the most crucial issues in Asia-Pacific region yet to provide evidence-based studies to direct the government and policymakers in designing strategic planning and health programs for the future growth and development of the regions.

Through this conference, experts, practitioners, professionals, and students working in Asian countries may share their works in the field of applied science and health as original research findings, best practices, review articles, and photo essays. We do believe, the success of this event will benefit the mankind, especially the governments and policymakers in designing strategic planning for the future growth and development of Asian countries, as well as for the scientists, scholars, professionals, and practitioners in order to keep updated with the latest issues of applied science and health.

PROGRAMS

The ICASH will be a one-day conference program, covers plenary and panel sessions. Plenary program will present the invited keynote speech related to future strategic planning and health programs. On the panel section, participants can select the topics based on their preference on the three sub-themes. Registering as a presenter, the participants can present their original research findings and best practices either in oral or poster sessions, while review article can be included only in an oral session. Authors who decide to participate in Poster session are required to only send the ABSTRACT. Last, at the end of the day, a networking dinner will be arranged to facilitate the participants for network expansion and cultural exchange. Best oral and poster presenters will be given a certificate at the closing ceremony.
